NEW QUESTION: 3

The MOST important reason for conducting periodic risk assessments is because:

- A. security risks are subject to frequent change.
- B. it demonstrates to senior management that the security function can add value.
- C. reviewers can optimize and reduce the cost of controls.
- D. risk assessments are not always precise.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Risks are constantly changing. A previously conducted risk assessment may not include measured risks that have been introduced since the last assessment. Although an assessment can never be perfect and invariably contains some errors, this is not the most important reason for periodic reassessment. The fact that controls can be made more efficient to reduce costs is not sufficient. Finally, risk assessments should not be performed merely to justify the existence of the security function.
