NEW QUESTION: 2

DRAG DROP

Your company has an Office 365 subscription and uses Microsoft Exchange Online.

You are creating several Exchange objects to meet different requirements.

You need to ascertain the correct recipient type for each object based on the description.

Which recipient type best matches each description? To answer, drag the appropriate recipient types to the correct targets.

Each recipient type may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

Select and Place:

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

A mail contact is a mail-enabled Active Directory contact that contains information about people or organizations that exist outside the Exchange organization. Each mail contact has an external email address. All messages sent to the mail contact are routed to this external email address.

A mail user is a mail-enabled Active Directory user that represents a user outside the Exchange organization. Each mail user has an external email address. All messages sent to the mail user are routed to this external email address. A mail user is similar to a mail contact, except that a mail user has Active Directory logon credentials and can access resources (can log in to the Office 365 portal).

A shared mailbox is a mailbox that is not primarily associated with a single user and is generally configured to allow access for multiple users.

A distribution group or distribution list is a mail-enabled Active Directory distribution group object that can be used only to distribute messages to a group of recipients.

NEW QUESTION: 3

You use Microsoft .NET Framework 4 to create a Windows

Presentation Foundation (WPF) application.

You add a property named ServiceContext to a control.

You need the value of ServiceContext to flow to the child controls exactly like the value of the DataContext property of the FrameworkElement class.

What should you do?

A. Register a dependency property.

In the options settings of the property metadata, specify the Inherits option.

B. Declare a new property.

In the get method of the new property call VisualTreeHelper.GetParent.

In the set method of the new property, call VisualTreeHelper.GetChild.

C. Inherit the control class from the Dependency-Object class.

D. Declare a new property.

In the get and set methods of the new property, create an instance of the TraversalRequest class.

Answer: D
