NEW QUESTION: 1

An IT manager has only enough resources to install either a new payroll system or a new data security system, but not both. Which of the following actions is most appropriate?

- A. Leaving the decision to the IT manager.
- B. Increasing IT staff output in order for both systems to be installed.
- C. Giving priority to the security system.
- D. Having the information systems steering committee set the priority.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The needs assessment and cost-benefit analysis should be conducted by those responsible for making the decision. In this case, the information systems steering committee is the appropriate decision maker.
